'Moonlight' by LUTHER MONROE is out now, and available to stream on all major streaming platforms!

Multi-style super talented electronic music producer dons his Afrobeat hat.

London, England Aug 25, 2022 (Issuewire.com) - ABOUT THE ARTIST

Luther Monroe is a rising producer whose latest Single, 'Moonlight', is out now and available to stream on all major streaming platforms! Having been classically trained since his youth, the London-based electronic music producer has honed his craft over the years with both real and electronic instruments to become the genuine Artist he is today.

He consistently receives inspiration from a number of classical and EDM styles, and Luther Monroe combines a variety of compositional elements, incorporating real instruments with organic composition, to form his unique and authentic sound that has built his reputation as a truly versatile and dynamic producer.

Despite bursting onto the streaming scene as recently as 2021, Luther has already produced tracks that contain arabesque liquid drum and bass, horror-style trap, orchestral-infused UK garage, and a tech house adaptation of the tango; all testaments to Luther's impressive versatility.

Luther Monroe currently has three releases in his published discography on Soundcloud, Spotify, and many other platforms. Some of Luther's most popular tracks include the likes of, 'Tangier Recon' with over one hundred thousand streams, 'Wrong Turn', amassing almost eighty thousand streams, and 'No Time For Sorrow' gathering over fifty thousand streams since its recent release in July 2022.

With a growing number of followers and listeners and over two thousand two hundred regular monthly listeners on Spotify alone, there is no denying the fact that Luther Monroe is developing a dedicated following of loyal fans who will be eager to hear 'Moonlight'.

Luther is also currently working on his official debut album, 'State Of The Art', which is due to drop sometime in October 2022; it contains a plethora of music genres including, "Chill Trap, UK Garage, Big Beat, Electro Rock, Atmospheric Drum, and Bass, Soft Metal, Exotic Downtempo, Psychedelic Dub, World Fusion, Orchestral Fusion, and Operatic Fusion".

After the release of 'Moonlight', Luther Monroe plans to release another two-track EP containing "some heavily Tango influenced tech house and a beautifully dreamy dub techno production".

All his published tracks are currently FREE to download from his Soundcloud page.

FEATURED RELEASE

'Moonlight' by Luther Monroe is out now and available to stream on all major streaming platforms! The Single consists of two tracks: 'Moonlight' and 'Moonlight - Instrumental'. The main afrobeat single lasts around three minutes, sits at 100 bpm, and features the impressively talented afrobeat vocalist BwuoyMace. The track commences with a thirty-seven-second introductory section that builds a sense of anticipation for the vocal line.

BwuoyMace's clean and emotive vocal colour seamlessly synchronizes with the vibe of the instrumentation. The subtle atmospheric reverb adds depth to the vocal without detracting from the lyrical prominence. The powerful bass combines with the rhythmic beat, and melodic piano with soulful strings to provide the perfect platform for the vocal.

As the track progresses, various harmonized vocal elements are filtered into the mix, delivering just the right amount of dynamic diversity to ensure that this single is engaging from start to finish. By the time 'Moonlight' draws to a close, you'll find yourself caught up in the hypnotic vibe, humming the catchy hook, and in need of hitting that repeat button for another listen. Keep an eye on Luther Monroe for 3 more releases forthcoming this year at his SoundCloud page, or simply by googling his name.
