Bigham’s Smokehouse Welcomes Holiday Visitors for a Taste of Lubbock Barbecue

The family-owned smokehouse offers three Lubbock locations for meals with visiting friends and relatives, plus barbecue catering for gatherings at home or at work.

Lubbock, Texas Nov 24, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - As friends and relatives arrive in Lubbock for the holidays, Bigham’s Smokehouse is inviting local hosts to bring their guests in for a West Texas barbecue meal. Founded in 1978, the family-owned restaurant serves smoked meats and sides at three Lubbock locations and offers catering for family gatherings, office lunches and company parties.

The holiday dinner may already be planned, but a house full of guests usually means a few more meals to figure out. A barbecue lunch gives relatives a place to meet when they first get into town, and a casual dinner can round out a day of shopping or visiting family. For guests who grew up in Lubbock and moved away, a stop at a familiar restaurant can be part of coming home. For first-time visitors, it’s a chance to try a meal that reflects the part of Texas they’re visiting.

What are some of the best local restaurants to try in Lubbock, TX, during the holidays?

For visitors looking for West Texas barbecue, Bigham’s Smokehouse is a longtime local option. First-time guests can start with smoked brisket, try smoked turkey or choose a plate with more than one meat. If several people want to sample different dishes, the group can ask about family packs and pick a few meats and sides to share.

With three locations across Lubbock, hosts can choose a stop that fits the day's plans, whether they're meeting relatives for lunch or getting together for one more meal before everyone heads home. Guests can browse the menu online and check the hours for their preferred location before heading out.

Can Bigham's cater a holiday gathering in Lubbock?

Bigham's offers pickup, delivery and staffed catering options. A family hosting relatives at home can ask about picking up smoked meats and sides to serve alongside their own holiday dishes. An office planning a year-end lunch can ask about delivery, and organizers hosting a larger celebration can discuss staffed service with the catering team.

When requesting a quote, organizers can share the event date, venue and expected guest count. It also helps to mention how the meal will be served, especially if employees are eating in shifts or guests will arrive at different times. With those details, the catering team can discuss menu choices, portions, pricing and the service options available for the event.

Guests can browse the menu and find their nearest location at bighamsbbq.com. Families and businesses planning a group meal can find ordering and inquiry information on the Bigham's Smokehouse catering page.

About Bigham's Smokehouse
Founded in 1978, Bigham's Smokehouse is a family-owned barbecue restaurant with three locations in Lubbock, Texas. The restaurant serves smoked meats, sides and family meals and provides catering for private and business events in the Lubbock area.

Media Contact

Bigham's Smokehouse

@bighamsbbq.com

(806)-797-9931

4302 19th St.

https://bighamsbbq.com

Source : Bigham's Smokehouse

See on IssueWire