New York, Aug 30, 2018 (IssueWire.com) - HZ capital group, a Singapore based Blockchain Capital firm and Bloqchain Science, a New York based auditor and developer of secure decentralized solutions have decided to formalize their partnership through a trade agreement.

With HZ Capital's strategic position within several of Singapore's major technology trade associations and Bloqchain Science's expertise and proven track record, this partnership will provide an efficient link between the two major financial powerhouses of Singapore and New York that will facilitate the exchange and trade of financial, technological and marketing resources.

Both organizations will work together through their networks and partners to establish a globally-recognized professional standard which will help improve the quality of the Blockchain industry and help eliminate scams and other fraudulent activities.

This initiative will also help companies adopt Blockchain technology which can be used to improve many operational and financial efficiencies. The strategic intent is to be recognized as the major international initiative that helped accelerate the user adoption of Blockchain technology and drive the growth of the market on a global scale.

"Blockchain is not just a technology, it is a symbol of mankind's desire for integrity. We've learned through our first-hand experiences that having a strong set of values while thinking from the perspective of our customers is the surest path to success and the best way to build lasting relationships."

- Lanon Wee, Managing Director HZ Capital Group

HZ Capital Group (<http://hzcapitalgroup.com/>) is a Blockchain advisory specializing in business development, product viability and private placement for its select clientele consisting of startups, ICOs and MNCs.

Its founders have regionally recognized veterans of finance, banking, technology, marketing and business strategy.

"We are living in an era that we have the internet protocol of value transfer, regulated by algorithms. The blockchain era. That never happened before. As the ambassadors of this technology, we have the obligation to build secure and transparent systems and help businesses utilize blockchain to create the methods of a smooth and worried free value transfer. "
