Christian Krauter Offers a Psychedelic Journey With New Track 'can penguins fly to the moon'

Queensland DJ Christian Krauter expands his prolific musical journey with a new psychedelic electronic composition, ‘can penguins fly to the moon ’, with indie elements.

Brisbane, Nov 24, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Australia’s craziest and one of the most talented DJs, Christian Krauter, is expanding his journey of experimental creations with new compositions. He has recently dropped a single titled ‘can penguins fly to the moon ’, which is as quirky as it sounds. This time, the artist has explored the assistance of AI in music and utilized AI segments to add more versatility to his creative composition. The new track offers a fresh taste of indie electronica where you can find an energetic electronic groove along an electro-pop singing style which can appear to be hyper-pop to some listeners. It is truly a masterpiece for all psychedelic lovers for the upcoming festive season.

Reaching new heights as a talented Queensland DJ, Krauter is not afraid to make bold experiments in his electronic compositions, as he is confident in his creative psyche, which comes with a dash of madness. The latest song ‘can penguins fly to the moon’ is the perfect example of his fresh yet familiar compositions that blend different elements from other genres and offer a uniform stream of musical creativity. The song spans around 6 and a half minutes, and its sonic impact lasts much longer.

Christian Krauter is well-revered for the DJing skills that allow him to resonate with the hearts of electronic music lovers. Previously, he has dropped many singles, mixtapes, and instrumental projects that captivated global audiences. He progresses on his musical journey with the wish to drop more exotic compositions in the coming days. Follow him on SoundCloud, and Apple Music to listen to his music. Krauter is also available on Facebook, Instagram, and his official website.
