

AIMS' Project Management Diploma is Grooming Talent for Future of Project Management

London, Sep 8, 2018 (IssueWire.com) - Modern corporations require professionals who carry 'real world' skills in project management. UK-based and accredited Academy for International Modern Studies (AIMS) offers a tailor-made, flexible and completely online diploma in project management that allows students to succeed in their careers by understanding all necessary theoretical and practical concepts.

Modern projects are complex. That is why AIMS focuses on imparting its diploma in project management to make students learn to manage projects, programs and project portfolios, while also preparing them for professional PMP, PMI-ACP, PrMP, and PfMP exams.

The Diploma in Project Management is of 3-4 month duration and comprises online e-lectures, e-manuals for each course, 24/7 faculty support, an online library, 14 assignments and a real-world project to complete. As a bonus, the program includes PDUs and Exam-Preparation of PMP®, PMI-ACP®, MS Project®, PgMP® & PfMP®, as well as seven courses and a project.

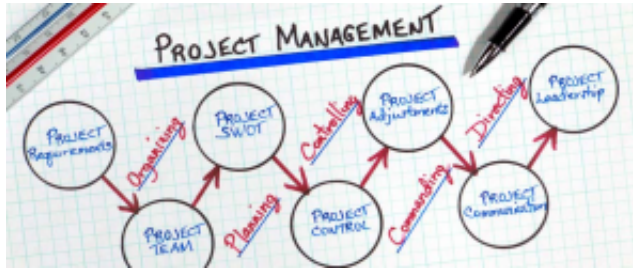

To develop necessary concepts and skills, understand business dynamics and manage real-world projects, the first semester offers a certified project manager award after completing five courses, followed by the diploma award after completing two courses and a project. Twenty four credits can be earned during MDPM and can be transferred to the higher MBA project management course.

The Diploma in Project Management is targeted at professionals who wish to develop their advanced managerial skills in areas such as construction, engineering, IT, consultancy, finance, healthcare, and business.

"Professionals and students alike require project management skills in virtually all industries. Our project management diploma is self-paced, flexible and can be taken anytime, anywhere to acquire this in-demand skill,” said a spokesperson from AIMS.

The job growth in management areas is estimated at 7.5 percent, and project management skills are in demand in virtually all industries today, with salaries varying as per leadership skills, experience and location. The AIMS project management diploma, therefore, fills up the gap in professional expertise, and groom students and professionals alike to obtain high paying, specialized jobs.

Media Contact

Academy for International Modern Studies (AIMS)

info@aims.education

+44 (0)20 8720 6985

21 Wenlock Road, London N1 7GU United Kingdom

Source : Academy for International Modern Studies (AIMS)

See on IssueWire : <https://www.issuewire.com/aims-project-management-diploma-is-grooming-talent-for-future-of-project-management-1611106792257393>