Mumbai, Sep 6, 2018 (Issuewire.com) - Ecommerce sales acceleration company, Azisst, announced today the launch of its PPV Partners Program for India based digital marketing agencies and professionals. PPVisit is an AI based, organic promotion alternative to advertisement based pay per click promotions.

The festive sales season from late September to December is the time when Amazon sellers make the most of their annual sales. PPVist for Amazon offers agency partners a powerful resource to drive external customer traffic to Amazon.

Every year, the festive season in India sees a massive surge in conventional and digital media costs. Marketing agencies are often faced with the challenge of maximizing their client's customer reach with limited promotional budgets.

PPVisit is a cost-effective, promotional medium and works on a Pay-For-Performance Model with no upfront costs. It is unaffected by Ad blockers, which are known to block external access to a large number of premium Amazon customers in the USA.

“We are delighted to welcome digital marketing agencies from India to our platform,” said

Dr. Anand U Bidarkar, CEO of Azisst. “In us, they will find a partner that understands the Amazon ecosystem and together we can be a powerful force to increase client sales on Amazon” he added.

The PPV partner program offers benefits to all levels of partners. These include exclusive AI driven insights, invites to training and an industry-leading rewards program. Azisst also offers PPVisit specific design and video creation assistance to agencies that lack such capabilities at highly subsidized costs.
