

Creation Farm Announces Release of Groundbreaking Calendula Comfrey Salve for All-Purpose Skin Health

The luxury skincare company has combined the best of all worlds by creating an authentic, unrefined Calendula Comfrey Salve that promotes a wide range of benefits, including sustained skin health that remedies many situations.

Detroit, Sep 21, 2018 (IssueWire.com) - Calendula and Comfrey are both highly renowned throughout the botanical skincare industry as a “super ingredients” due to the infinite ways that they can enhance the skin. From pharmaceutical uses such as treating psoriasis and eczema to cosmetic benefits which include smoothing the appearance of wrinkles and healing cracking skin, there is seemingly nothing that this salve cannot do for the skin.

The problem for most salve or ointment consumers is that they are forced to make difficult decisions when choosing which product to use. Most herbal skin care products are solely intended for either health or cosmetic purposes, rather than both. Furthermore, the vast majority of these products are filled with synthetic fillers and contaminants that can do more damage than good.

The Creation Farm Company, a rapidly growing skin care brand with a focus on premium organic and locally grown ingredients from their region to minimize environmental impact, recently introduced their highly-anticipated Calendula-Comfrey Salve jar. This all-purpose balm solution is the only authentic farm grown botanical remedy for a skin on the market, which means that it exceeds the necessary 99% purity rating set by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

The original formula and purity of this unique Calendula Salve are what sets it apart from other products. Creation Farm products are produced under strict hygienic conditions in an FDA registered and Osha certified facility. It is made from freshly harvested, herbs unlike common machine processed herbal products that sell posing as the real thing in many big box stores.

“We’ve always admired the amazing power of Calendula and Comfrey, but we’ve been disappointed to see how many products contain harmful fillers that outweigh the benefits of these super ingredients,” said Anne Sangemino, founder of The Creation Farm Company. “We created Creation Farm to bring 100% pure, authentic and unadulterated herbal remedies to the public, so they can experience what we’ve known for years.”

Creation Farm has just pure authentic ingredients -- an extremely rare variety of super-powerful old-time Calendula and Heirloom Comfrey infused with the purest Olive oil available. This multi-purpose solution solves the most common problem that herbal products users face, removing the need to choose between skin health and skin beauty.

When it comes to health benefits, this all-purpose herbal salve is second-to-none. It has broad-acting antibacterial and antifungal properties, is hypoallergenic, and can be applied to the body's most sensitive tissues. It is highly effective for skin conditions such as eczema, and can even be used as a protective lip balm or all-natural moisturizer.

In the realm of cosmetic benefits, Calendula Comfrey Salve is also in a class of its own. The pure infused herbal oils used in this product do not contain any of the synthetic fillers that can often react poorly to the skin. This pure and simple botanical ointment can be used to soothe the under-eye area, reduce the appearance of cracked drying skin, and even as a soothing massage balm.

“Our main goal with Calendula Comfrey Salve was to showcase the limitless potential of Pure Calendula and Comfrey, and not just as a trendy beauty product,” said Anna. “We wanted to show people how premium-quality, unadulterated botanicals can change their lives for the better, and that’s exactly what we’re doing.”

Creation Farm Calendula Comfrey Salve has just been released on Amazon.com.
