Lytham St Annes, Sep 26, 2018 (Issuewire.com) - Schools Film and Photography Festival Awards is an online festival and Oscar- type red carpet event organized to recognize young, talented minds and hands between the ages of 10 and 17 while providing them with a platform to show the world their talents. The founder and organizers of the event have announced the opening of submission for the different categories of the event including film, television, and photography.

The film and photography sector of the industry has particularly grown in recent times as more people enter the industry. However, young talents have not particularly had the opportunity to showcase and develop their talent. This is where Schools Film and Photography Festival Awards is looking to change the narrative and make a difference by giving children and young people a chance of social mobility and to enhance their creative development whilst in and outside of school.

The upcoming event is a testament to efforts. Submissions of works commence on the 24th September and will run till 8th March 2019, allowing interested participants in the film, television, and photography to submit their works for assessment and recognition.
