

New Food Finding App Set To Go National

Locate HappyPlate

Searchable menus for 1000's of restaurants

De Funiak Springs, Oct 3, 2018 (Issuewire.com) - Locate HappyPlate is a new app available in Google Play and the Apple App Store from locals Jason and Amanda Ramsey. They started a local research company that uses freelance research specialists to evaluate company data for freelance researching firms from across the country since 2008. The Ramsey's have now used their experience and their employee's specializations to create a food finding app that is food-finding and stay up-to-date and its accurate.

Locate HappyPlate is an eatery app specialized to find restaurants along the Emerald Coast area of Florida, but includes national applications.

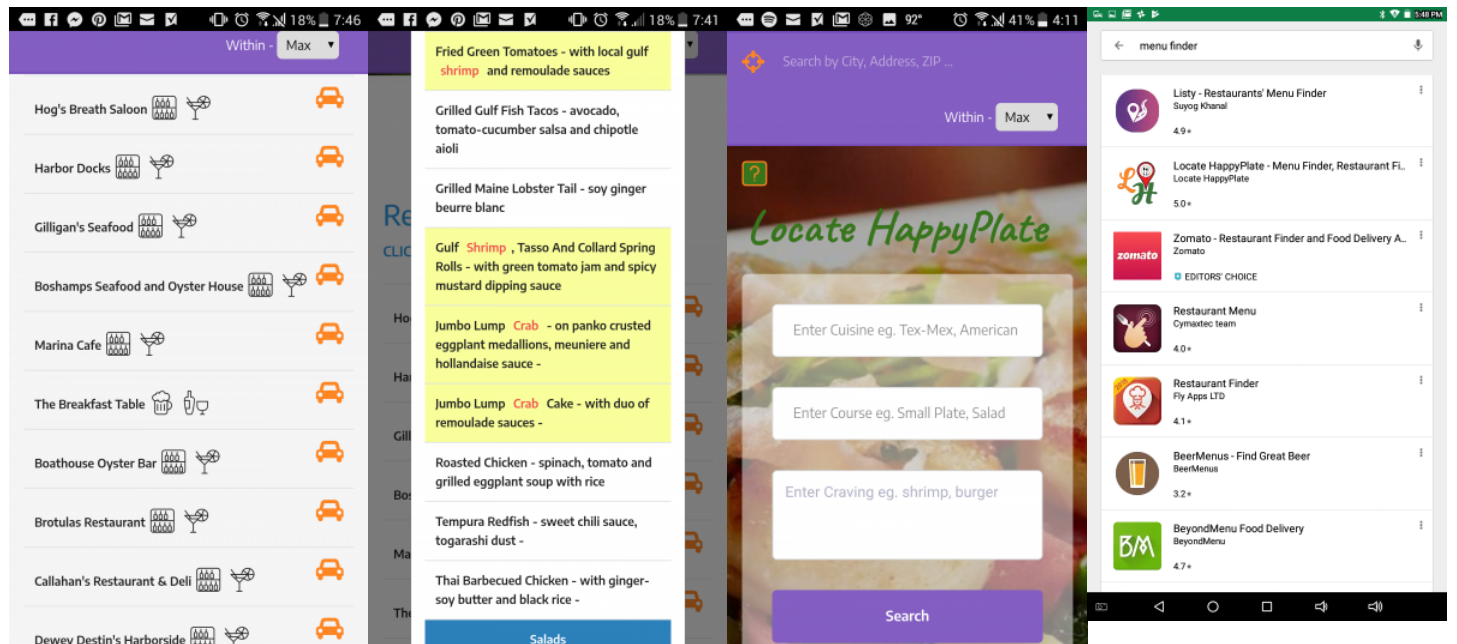

Locate HappyPlate:

- is a comprehensive database of restaurants and menus
- displays alcohol availability
- is a personal dining concierge
- saves vacationers time
- local focus with national chain inclusion

Locate HappyPlate is a food finder that offers a comprehensive database of restaurants, nearby menus, and offers unprecedented searchability. Users of Locate HappyPlate can search by cuisine, specific dishes, and any craving they might have. The results of their search will return restaurants and their most current menu. The Locate HappyPlate databases also displays alcohol availability so they will know if they can except beer and wine, a full bar, or nothing at all.

With the Locate HappyPlate app every user has a custom and personal concierge in their pocket and awaiting their fingertips. Not only do they have a concierge, customers have the speediest of concierges as the app populates with nearby menus and restaurants faster than websites. Searching the app simply gets customers to their meals faster and easier than the internet does.

Locate HappyPlate adds convenience to difficult dining choices that everyone in the US can access. Locate HappyPlate has a catalogue of national chains in its database that have been gathered and checked for accuracy by a specially trained team. The accuracy checkers for Locate HappyPlate have checked and added over 1,000 restaurants, included over 98,000 locations, and 145,000 dishes. Each day they are searching more, adding more, and making LocateHappyPlate more complete. Locate HappyPlate is proud to say the team that searches and verifies all the information that goes into the app is an all-American team and the expansion of the app only helps more Americans find work and recreation.
