Revolist and Michael Pedrotti, SEO Specialist, is pleased to announce that they have released an informative Clickfunnels Pricing review providing a wealth of information about the ClickFunnels sales funnel builder. The training course is a program designed to help people earn enough to retire in as little as one hundred days. The course was developed by the famous internet marketer, Russell Brunson. Clickfunnels Pricing was explicitly created to be a complete training course for ClickFunnels Affiliates to market and sell ClickFunnels products and services.

One of the significant factors which make ClickFunnels a top affiliate program is a Sticky Cookie. Participants receive a commission if any of the referred members buy other products from Russell's product line. Some of the other products available from Brunson include his top-rated training products and eBooks such as the Perfect Webinar and Funnel Scripts.

According to the reviewer, "Numerous factors determine the legitimacy of an affiliate marketing program. A legitimate affiliate program should deliver what it promises. The goal of the ClickFunnels Clickfunnels Pricing is to help you retire in 100 days. When you visit the website's landing page, you get an introduction video that tells you how you can retire in 100 days. The video does not provide any information about what the entire course is about."

Once access to the membership is gained, an introduction module explains how the program works and what to expect. This component also contains an FAQ section which answers the most common questions. The first five videos provide a wealth of information which is essential for newbies. Each of these videos is free and require about one hour of time.

The course covers many topics to help its affiliates sell Click Funnels products. Some of the major topics include how to build an online business and how to use Facebook ads. Russell teaches customers how to build their first online business, including the basics on how to become a successful online entrepreneur, such as how to ding a perfect customer and how to apply the concept of the attractive character. The two techniques provide the ability to sell products or services as well as to promote ClickFunnels.
