

New York Polysteel to Attend World of Concrete

Upcoming conference will feature premier concrete and masonry companies from around the world

New York, Jan 17, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - New York Polysteel will partner with Lifeform at the upcoming World of Concrete event, which is taking place January 21, 2019 - January 25, 2019, at the Las Vegas Convention Center in Las Vegas, Nevada. Where we will be presenting our cutting edge ICF technology.

The convention will feature some of the most premier masonry and concrete companies from around the world. At World of Concrete, New York Polysteel will demo their leading-edge insulated concrete form blocks. These ICF blocks are reinforced concrete with thermal insulation designed to offer permanent material for exterior and interior construction needs. ICF walls, for example, are highly durable and rated to last longer than standard materials.

Aside from ICF blocks, New York Polysteel offers other innovative building materials designed with sustainability and longevity in mind. For example, New York Polysteel's Geo Foam is versatile, lightweight, and offers efficacy in insulation for structural fill. The company also offers foundation waterproofing using a self-adhering sheet membrane composed of rubberized asphalt adhesive completely coating a cross-laminated HDPE film.

World of Concrete will offer demonstrations of heavy-duty machinery and much more, skills workshops, management seminars, and unique networking opportunities specifically within the construction industry.

The team at New York Polysteel looks forward to attending World of Concrete and showcasing their innovative construction-based products for international and domestic audiences alike. New York Polysteel will be at booth #N2355 throughout the duration of World of Concrete. More information about New York Polysteel can be found at <https://newyorkpolysteel.com/>.
