

Trusted Name in Component Production & Toolmaking

Western Cape, Jan 23, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Tooltech is a locally owned family business, which operates from Cape Town, operating for more than 30 years. The company provides high-quality services which include component production, toolmaking and product designing. There is a designated tool room and steel division, from where the processes of manufacturing and designing are carried out. Customers who look forward to customised tools often get in touch with Tooltech for custom-made products.

Expertise in Engineering:

Tooltech is a trusted name in component production and the toolmaking process which is a result of their top-notch engineering process. The company owns a fully equipped CNC Toolroom, where a variety of functions are performed, starting from plastic injection and PU foam moulds to the process of press tooling. The factor that further improves the manufacturing process is their highly skilled team of in-house specialists, who supervise the entire process, starting from the design to the manufacturing of the mould.

The two main types of moulding that are done by the company are discussed in detail below:

1. Plastic Injection Moulding: Tooltech is an expert in the use of high-quality injection moulding machines, which range from 35T to 1000T, through which a perfect finish is achieved. Tooltech's injection moulding is widely recognised as a top name in the world of engineering and plastic component manufacturing. They hold an ISO 9001-2000 license and a certification from the BEE (Black Economic Empowerment Program).

2. P.U. Moulded Foam: The company is equipped with Polyurethane moulding plant which offers extremely specific integral skin moulding. Being a company that leads the field of PU moulding, they are trusted by numerous offices and hospitals.

Chairtech – a Division of Tooltech

Chairtech is a division of Tooltech which offers a huge range of chair components, hardware, bases, mechanisms, gas lifts and castors to name a few. They also specialise in products like brackets, seat kits, tub chairs, hospitality frames and different chair components. Buyers who desire customised options can easily rely on in-house professionals who design and manufacture chairs, which are based on the requirements of clients.

Skin foam products offered by Chairtech are quite popular as well. These products are all tried and tested which guarantee high-quality and fair cost at the same time.
