

Cancer Fighter Canei Lampkin Writes And Publishes New Book During Chemo

Brave cancer fighter Canei Lampkin was able to write and self-publish her fiction debut, all the while going through extensive chemo. She shares her inspiring story and offers a look inside her creative process.

Los Angeles, Feb 22, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Writing under the name C.L. Ross, Canei Lampkin's debut fiction book has been met with acclaim on Amazon. Lampkin was able to plan and execute the entire project within a period of two months. What makes this story even more inspiring is the author's journey with cancer, as she wrote the entire book while going through chemo. While she still continues to bravely fight against all odds, Lampkin wants to inspire a large demographic of people with her message.

Titled "Traces of My Love: The Secrets of Heart", the new book revolves around the story of a successful young girl living in Atlanta, named, "Tink", the protagonist goes on a unique quest for love in her life and takes the readers along on an awe-inspiring journey. This book, which has 5.0 out of 5 stars as Amazon review ratings, which is deemed a must-read for even the most finicky fiction connoisseurs.

"There were many tough days (mentally, physically, financially, socially, and emotionally) and not understanding what I needed nor wanted to do out of life, since I was no longer working and was going through a health journey that I wouldn't wish on nobody," stated Lampkin in an official statement for the press.

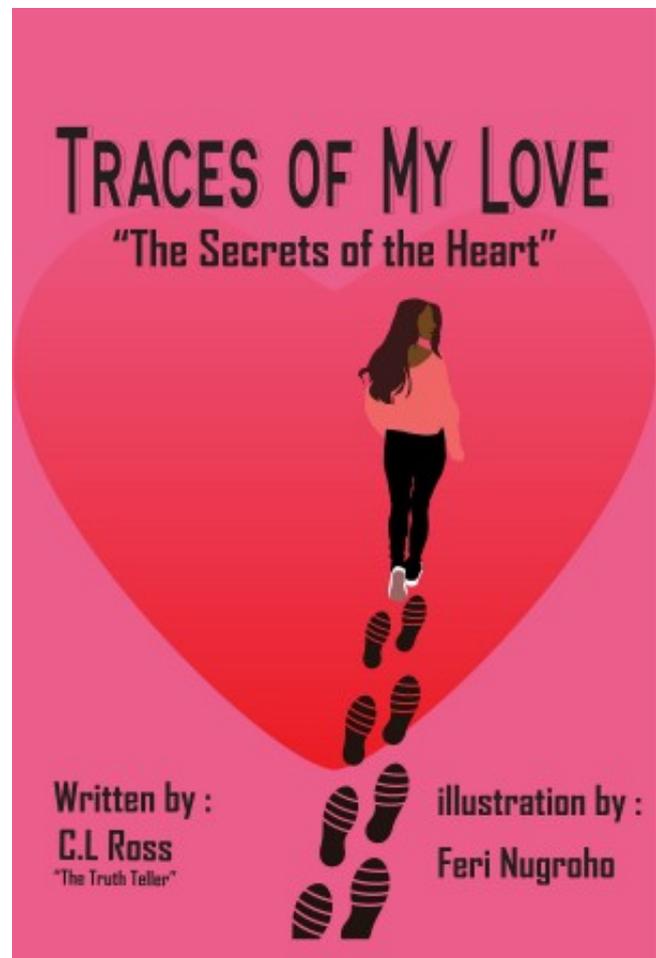

She further added to her statement "but I had a strong support team around me. November 26, 2018, I made a promise to God that I will buckle down and write a story that was in my head by January 26, 2019. I started writing that story and by January 16, 2019, I was fully published and now my book is on Amazon, Lulu, thebookpatch.com, Blurb, and Barnes and Noble.”

After the successful publication of her first book, Lampkin is already working hard on her new children’s books. The books will share the lives, feelings, and emotions of children who are also going through cancer and dealing with varies insecurities. Lampkin, says about her 2nd project, “I want to get a million of my children books into a million small hands (1-year-olds to 1st graders around the world)”

Always working hard to give back to the community and work for the greater good, Lampkin is highly proactive about education and empowerment. She is also the founder of a youth group called the Visions of the Minds, Inc.
