Kensington, Feb 7, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - For Taiwo Oladokun aka MrLtee, a Clinical Scientist (Neurophysiologist) is a passion for world music bubbles in spite of his professional training. Graduating from Middlesex University, London, he got involved in afrobeat music competitions in Peterborough and Cambridge and soon gained a reputation as a Nigerian Clinical Physiologist who raps and sings. He emerged in the UK music scene in 2005. He began performing as a member of a church choir, demonstrating his vocal ability with RnB rap music and Youruba influences with his own original twist. He is currently number one on Reverbnation Cambridge world Chart.

The brand new EP, MY TIME consisting of 'MELODY, LOVE OVERLOAD and BODY BAD' has proven that MrLtee, is no music pushover in world music. The rapper's afrobeat music was produced by OY production, who is known in the Nigerian and UK music industry for his productions for music stars like SONA. The music video for Love Overload was shot in the UK on Sunday, January 27, 2019, and directed by Sean Sheridan.

I find inspiration all around me. I try to make my music representative of myself and my generation. I draw a lot of inspiration from the old generation of world music Nigerian artistes like Chief Ebenezer Obey and King Sunny Ade, while also gaining a lot of influence from UB40 and late Michael Jackson in spite of singing afrobeat music. "The younger generation of Nigerian artistes has a lot of things to learn from Nigerian music legends. I believe we can continually put Nigeria on the world map by drawing inspiration from our culture and bringing to fore its uniqueness through our music", he said.

Find out what's in store come 11th February 2019.
