Cheyenne, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - There are numerous music genres which come off as very pompous and overly grandiose in the eyes of music fans. However, the hip-hop and rap music genre sounds more normal and has the ability to connect to average listeners. So if you are one of those music lovers who is very fond of repetitive high-hats, thick bass-lines and drum beats, then you must listen to this artist and producer A'vyzion's dynamic hip hop and rap blends. He plays the guitar and piano and wants people to feel the vibe of his music.

The three tracks 'It's Gone Be A While', 'Kinda Low' and 'DIY' from his recently released album "Jaded". The aggressive tones and the quirky beats are very suitable for club atmosphere. The brand new tracks 'It's Gone Be A While', 'Kinda Low' and 'DIY' burst onto the scene with a lot of brightness, colour and swagger. The backdrop, catchy hook section and the stunning rap performance add a lot of weight and confidence which aim to inspire and entertain the audience all at once.

The easy-going vibes and the realness in these tracks make it easier for the listeners to get into the music. The complex story-line and the verses offer a lot of details and highlight the artist's perfect art of story-telling and narration. Most of the tracks in the album "Jaded" hold close to the relevant concepts and underlying sentiments and run with it. The artist A'vyzion makes sure that his music pieces motivate and connect with the listeners of today.
