

Pennsylvania Rapper Calvin DeShon is Recreating and Refurbishing the Cultural Glory of Hip-hop

Calvin DeShon, a 21-year old hip-hop artist from Pennsylvania has recently dropped his new song 'Billie' which is high on pumped-up lyrical and musical arrangements.

Phildelphia, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - The insertion of genre influences in hip-hop into a boisterous gala of flavors and musical experimentations has been well received by the audience. The newest entrant in this celebration of life and music, 21-year old Pennsylvania rapper Calvin DeShon is already getting a substantial amount of recognition and popularity for his song 'Billie', a track from his album 'Capsize'. Of all the songs on his album, 'Billie' has garnered the best engagement due to its catchy beats, unadulterated lyrical flair and the way the various fragments of the song come together into orderly mayhem of musical aesthetics. His music has that contemporary touch of modernization, yet the audience can find relatable analogies with the lyrics. This is where the feat of a musician lies where he can connect with his fans through the medium of his musical content.

Calvin DeShon is a natural lyricist as he writes about everything under the sun and makes the best fonts for his songs. Some of his songs like 'Don't Come Back', 'Drip' and 'Understand Me' are significant works in the entirety of his career as he collaborated with numerous producers to deliver his potential. With 'Billie', he has reached a different level of cultural exposure altogether. As the song is rapidly becoming the anthem of the neo-hip-hop era, Calvin DeShon is set to create more intriguing content with his music and flair.

Rap and hip-hop being the central elemental factor of Calvin DeShon's sound, he is set to explore more. He is a creator by all means who only want to bask in the essence of the genre and more. If you are someone looking to cross the barriers of classical stereotyping, follow his work on his social handles on Instagram, Twitter, and YouTube. Follow his music stream on Soundcloud and be a part of the extended celebration of hip-hop as a genre.
