

QunQun Announced QunQun Global Plan With 100BTC As Rewards

Singapore, Feb 21, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - The cryptocurrency world was in a frenzy during the end of 2017. A lot of cryptocurrencies boomed and mooned during this period, and many people became instant millionaires. The incident led to the popularity of these digital securities, and many more people from different parts of the world began embracing it with the view of upgrading their financial lives.

However, the year 2018 was a different case entirely as far as the cryptocurrency market is concerned. Many coins dropped massively in value, and some of them are even currently worthless. However, there are some coins that showed signs that they are getting set for a bullish run come 2019. These coins have shown that they've got a lot of potentials, and it is wise to take them very seriously. One of them is QunQun.

QunQun is a completely new incentive community platform based on blockchain technology. On QunQun, users can easily create their own theme community without encoding and deploying, and obtain extra (QUN)tokens from the reward pool through operating it or submitting contents to the communities. Now QUN token is tradable on huobi.pro, OKEX, ZB.com and some other main trade platforms.

To spread QunQun to more and more people in the world, QunQun Foundation just announced the #QunQunGlobalPlan. According to their plan, they would like to invite 100 talented community admins with a high price of 100BTC.

The wanted people for this campaign is someone like an influencer, who has some successful experiences of running a public page or group on Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, Instagram, Reddit or other social networks. Specialized in a certain field, like games, technology, sports, makeups, travel or some other topics will be a plus. More important, the candidate should have the ability to run a community, which includes getting more members and keeping them active.

What are you waiting for? Join the QunQun train now and start your way of being popular and accumulating wealth!
