

Texas Electronic Duo Musicians The Voided is Trading the Path of Trance Mixes with an Emotional Edge

Houston based duo The Voided is currently conceptualizing the contemporary verses of trance and house mix with linearity of emotional value to it in their songs.

Houston, Feb 15, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - The Voided is an electronic duo based out of Houston, Texas who is the a la mode of trance with a fringe of the quintessential emotional stance. Trance has passed through constructive modulations of the audience and historic feats to actually feature as an independent genre. Texas electronic duo musicians The Voided have put together their elemental values of trance in the spectrum of electronic music themes, vintage tributes to old school classics and more into a boisterous amalgamation of musical bash. Their song 'Follow Me' (Original Mix) is their perspective on the global saga of hymns and happiness that makes the audience shake a leg in positive empathy. A beautiful and jolly progression of distinct sounds, thrills, and that existing emotional stanza is what makes The Voided so exceptional.

Apart from creating some of the most compelling original tracks, they have also sung their paeon with their remixed version of 'Believe' by Cher, a rendition of the classical dance-pop cult favorite by Goddess of Pop Cher. They have managed to skillfully transform the flavors of 'Believe' and create something that goes ideally well with the neo-wave club essence. Although trance is their central thematic logo of music genre, they never shy away from further experimentations that are reflected in their work. Some of their other mixes like 'Overdrive' and 'Genesis' put forward the very concept of evolution in music and how their innovativeness actually pushes the crowd to savor the taste of trance in all its glory.

The Voided is an unbiased Texas electronic duo musicians who are gradually creating a considerable stir in the club scene with their dynamic take on musical arrangements. It is just a start of something bigger that is surely going to explode into a global phenomenon.
