In the medical profession, a general practitioner (GP) is a medical doctor who treats acute and chronic illnesses and provides preventive care and health education to patients. A general practitioner manages types of illness that present in an undifferentiated way at an early stage of development, which may require urgent intervention. The holistic approach of general practice aims to take into consideration the biological, psychological, and social factors relevant to the care of each patient's illness. Their duties are not confined to specific organs of the body, and they have particular skills in treating people with multiple health issues. They are trained to treat patients of any age and sex to levels of complexity that vary between countries.

Dr. Nagin attributes her professional success to the pride she has in taking care of her family and working hard to deliver the best care possible. When not working, she enjoys enjoy running, hiking, yoga, traveling, and time with her family as she always takes the opportunity to see them when she can.
