Aesthetic medicine is an inclusive term for specialties that focus on improving cosmetic appearance through the treatment of conditions including scars, skin laxity, wrinkles, moles, liver spots, excess fat, cellulite, unwanted hair, skin discoloration, and spider veins. Traditionally, aesthetic medicine includes dermatology, reconstructive surgery, and plastic surgery. Aesthetic medicine includes both surgical procedures (liposuction, facelifts, breast implants, Radio frequency ablation) and non-surgical procedures (radio frequency skin tightening, nonsurgical liposuction, chemical peel, high-intensity focused electromagnetic field, radio frequency fat removal), and practitioners may utilize a combination of both. Although aesthetic medicine procedures are typically elective, they can significantly improve quality of life, psychological wellbeing, and social engagement.

Throughout his career, he has been awarded many awards and accolades and is an esteemed member of the Golden Key International Honor Society and International Society of Laureate Scholars, which allows him to give his patients the most up-to-date medical treatments possible. When he is not seeing patients or teaching, Dr. Deen enjoys spending time with friends and family members.
