New York City, Mar 18, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - It is believed that the name of a person becomes the identity of a person but when it comes to Von Sell it is his music that speaks for himself. His music can be described as a blend of multiple genres each of them playing a major part in turning his composition into magnificent hits. Hailing from the United States he is truly a talented artist representing the country. Till now he has composed a total of 12 tracks and each of them is different from each other in its composition. Among Von Sell's tracks 'Scene of a Crime' with modern contemporary techniques have attracted listeners worldwide.

This Brooklyn indie singer who is also known as David Von Sell has brought certain rhythmic techniques into this industry which was not heard of before. Creating music since a long time, Von Sell brings forward tracks which have both the celebratory factor and realism integrated into it. And the track 'Scene of a Crime' has all these factors and more. The soundscape of the track has intensity that vibes out from the very beginning to the end of the composition. The beats and the bass-line incorporated are in perfect synch with each other. The vocal of the artist is deep and brings out the flavour of the song to the fullest.

Von Sell takes his influences from many renowned artists like Stevie Wonder, MGMT and James

Blake. His compositions are seen to bearing the styles of the established artists but each of them is made unique with the creative techniques he has formulated himself. As compared to some tracks found in Soundcloud such as 'Gay Messiah', 'Digital Sleep', 'Hell No', 'Miss Me', 'Scene of a Crime' has escapism that is not seen in his other compositions.
