

Missionary Shares Life's Work, Discusses God's Providence, in Absorbing Autobiography

Read about the joys and challenges of a missionary's life

Tucson, Mar 18, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Author Fred Beck announces the release of his inspiring book, "When God Works Incognito: Thoughts & Memories of My Life & Lifetime," where he shares more than three decades of his life and dedication to field missionary work.

"I humbly offer these autobiographical vignettes of my life and lifetime," says Beck.

He opens up about his near-death experience as a child, with his aunt driving the car — the memories of which he still had to carry through adulthood. He highlights the life-changing moments he had to live through with his parents during the time of war and economic depression. He shows bravery in acknowledging tough questions like "Is God even interested in what happens on earth? More importantly, does God act in the life and affairs of mankind?"

His missionary work in Asia, narrated in clear and honest voice in the book, is a testament to his true will. Despite the hardships he experienced along the way, he remained relentless in his pursuit for goodness. Beyond the author's personal experiences, the readers will witness how great of a "creator, sustainer, and saviour" God is.

Authors Press showcased "When God Works Incognito: Thoughts & Memories of My Life & Lifetime" at the Tucson Festival of Books held at the University of Arizona Campus last March 2 to 3, 2019. Beck's book was displayed at Authors Press' booth number 154. Festival goers and publishing professionals had a chance to read through his work during the event.
