

Rapper So King'd Up's New Song 'Sittin By The Door' is a Stunning Ambiguity of Sound and Lyrics

So King'd Up's remixed version of his new song 'Sittin By The Door' promotes a distinctive style of contemporary hip-hop and sound arrangements of the best kind.

Tacoma, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - The glory of hip-hop as a significant socially and politically opinionated genre has been a long-standing battle. Now that times have changed, hip-hop artists are putting in their creative flairs as musicians and coming out with some of the most compelling songs of our times. Rapper So King'd Up's new song 'Sittin By The Door' is a beautiful and upbeat version of the known lines of hip-hop that has gone through extensive transformation and experimentation and have been put together in a complete boisterous thematic presentation. This song is a remixed version in collaboration with fellow musician Ciara that exemplifies the modern sound of hip-hop and its relatable scope.

So King'd Up is a rapper out of Tacoma who is conceptualizing the art of storytelling through the layers of modernity, incredible poetic insertions and an arrangement that gives the audience a reason to unwind at the end of the day. It has a groove of its own in its rhythmic patterns that make the entire arrangement of 'Sittin By The Door' even more commendable. So King'd Up has put his heart and passion in curating the best song of his career with 'Sittin By The Door'. And the result is a thumping track that can be played in an infinite loop.

So King'd Up's vision with his music is to resurrect the lost essence of the genre and give it a new name. Some of his other songs like 'Futuristic', 'Coming Back' or 'Through It All' have that flavorsome contemporary enigma in them to be called the neo-sound of the modern-day musical resurgence. With an ever-expanding fan-base, his name and opportunities are growing bigger by the day. Be a part of hip-hop's natural flow into the progressive cycles of social eras by following So King'd Up's work on YouTube, Facebook and Twitter.
