Madurai, Mar 5, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - SpotnRides, which has a greater market share in Uber app clone development has announced the release of a new taxi dispatch system in their existing uber clone solution to add value. The on-demand taxi bubble is on the verge of burst. From the self-employment debate to the rider safety, there are numbers of ongoing controversies in the on-demand taxi business and this is the most appropriate time to use taxi dispatch software in the taxi business. There is a widespread misconception about the taxi dispatch system as it is outdated and is no longer relevant. But SpotnRides have combined automation, mobile technology with the old dispatch system to present a cutting edge dispatch solution.

“I myself have understood the immense potential of taxi dispatch system and there cannot be a better time than now to release a cutting edge solution for it” - CEO, SpotnRides.

SpotnRides team has a history of working with clients globally and their working style comprises of timely delivery and, after sale support.

“Our team has the knack of working in different domains and create software suited to all businesses. I believe that a product like this from my team will never compromise on quality and deliver better than our competitors” - spokesperson, SpotnRides.

The major hurdle for aspiring entrepreneurs who think of entering the taxi industry is the unhealthy competitiveness of Uber, Lyft and Didi. SpotnRides dispatch solution can break the business model of the above-said companies and provides a level playing field for all.
