Lake Forest, Mar 18, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Stromden Consulting Inc., an electronic payments consulting firm specializing in payments operations, technical solution implementation and complex operating models, announced today that it has launched MarijPay to provide services specifically designed for legal cannabis industry businesses and solutions providers.

“After launching sideb.io last year, engagement with cannabis businesses, technology platforms and solution providers became more frequent. It was clear from those conversations that there was not an operations resource available that bridged both the electronic payments and legal cannabis industries. Companies represented one side or the other, but not both”, said Stacey Wiles, President, Stromden Consulting Inc.

Mrs. Wiles went on to say, “It was also clear that neither side had a deep understanding of the business complexities and challenges of the other. This is far from ideal as cannabis businesses and technology companies architecting plans for future payment solutions need to have payments operations professionals involved in those discussions.”

Building on the existing sideb.io service model, MarijPay provides payments operations resources for legal cannabis industry businesses and technology platforms of all sizes. With a collective network of payments professionals, service providers and dedicated legal cannabis industry resources, MarijPay is uniquely positioned to assist companies operating in this space.
