

This new startup allows you to get paid to travel to music festivals

Los Angeles, Mar 18, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - FareShare, a road-trip travel company, is letting you get paid for the extra seats in your car the next time you travel to a music festival. Yeah, that's right — you can now get paid to travel. With just a few clicks, you can offer your extra seats and meet new cool, down to earth people on the way to your next festival.

The journey should be as fun as the destination, which is why they also curate amazing music playlists that you can add to your Spotify or Apple Music, and it's completely free. The company also offers city travel guides and super-trendy festival gear so it's definitely worth exploring the FareShare universe at FareShare.io.

“We travel not to escape life, but for life not to escape us.”

Media Contact

FareShare

faresharemedia@gmail.com

Source : FareShare

See on IssueWire : <https://www.issuewire.com/this-new-startup-allows-you-to-get-paid-to-travel-to-music-festivals-1628397998148826>