

Light up Your Distant Friend's Life with the Unique Friendship Lamps

New York, May 28, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Distance is what spills water in a relationship. Distance simmers the flaming passion between lovers, at times creates misunderstandings between friends and what not. If you have faced such a situation and looking for the one magic trick, then you are in the right place. The Australia-based company Friend Lamps have launched its long-distance friend lamp to recreate the chemistry between you and your long distance friend or partner. Friendship lamp is no less than a blessing in today's world where it is not possible to stay physically close to your friend, family or partner round the clock. Everyone has their own pursuits which make them travel to different corners of the planet. Of course, phone calls, Skype and video calls are a boon to keep each other connected but there is something special about a touch. With friendship lamps from Friend Lamp, you can indeed fulfill this far-fetched desire.

Yes, it is possible to feel the touch of a person who is far away in a foreign land. What you need is a pair of these in-sync lamps. Each time you touch your friendship lamp, your partner's or the one who has it will light up at the same time. This will signify your partner that he/she is being remembered. Similarly, if your friendship lamp lights up in another color you will know that your friend is also thinking of you. Certainly, it is not a magic but the superb yet simple in-built technology which make these friendship lamps light up. Friendship lamps can also be used by more than two members at a time and you can assign specific colors to know who is missing you.

The makers of Friend Lamps have kept it simple so that the friendship lamps can be used by every age group no matter it is your old grandmother, your son or in that case your spouse. Once you have it, you are just three steps away to feel the moment.
