

Lil Scotty P Announces New Visual And Upcoming Debut EP

The Lancaster California based rapper is set to release his Visual For Can't Lie To My Brother In May followed up by his debut EP, "Momma I'm Sorry."

Lancaster, May 23, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - In the midst of riding the success of his latest single Clownin, Lil Scotty P surprised the world by not just announcing his next visual for his song entitled, Can't Lie To My Brother, but also by announcing his debut EP, Momma I'm Sorry.

Directed by Topgwap Films, Lil Scotty P's Can't Lie To My Brother visual depicts a meeting that he's having with himself, as he acts as a psychiatrist and explains to himself what exactly what he's been going through in life. The video was shot in his hometown of Lancaster California, which only adds to the real storyline.

Armed with three strong tracks, Momma I'm Sorry starts off with the street anthem Clownin which is guaranteed to be an instant fan favourite. Rapping about the gritty streets, Lil Scotty P gives a clear picture of the good life; "touched my first gun I had just turned twelve / only fifteen when I touched my first cell/boy it's body after body like I'm growing up in hell / Fifteen with the chopper I was really in the field." Led by a beautiful piano that's backed by a thumping bass and awesome sound effects, the next track, Ride For Me, is sure to be heard booming in every sound system from the west coast, to the east coast, and everywhere in between, as soon as the EP is released. The last track, Can't Lie To My Brother - which is also Lil Scotty P's track for his new visual, has a smooth guitar melody and a heavy 808 bass line that's sure to dominate any party setting while having fans from all walks of life singing along to the catchy chorus.

Momma I'm Sorry is an impressive hip hop debut, as Lil Scotty P - who's known for his energetic flow, definitely brings enough fuel for the fire with his passionate display of rhyming skills from start to finish.

Momma I'm Sorry is slated for a May 31 release date.

Tracklist:

1. Clownin
2. Ride For Me
3. Can't Lie To My Brother
