New York City, Jun 6, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Dr Hind Bouallali is a paediatrician currently practising in One Loudoun at One Pediatrics. Her approach to medical care is inclusive and interactive with evidence-based support. Dr Bouallali provides personalized care plans that are tailored to fit your child's condition and needs while creating a partnership between the medical home team, the child and his/her parents.

One Pediatrics offers infants, children and teens' preventative visits, care of the high-risk premature "NICU grads", as well as sick/urgent visits, immunizations, asthma management and pulmonary function testing. Treatments provided include management of allergies, anaemia and vitamin deficiencies, developmental and mental health screenings (autism, ADHD, depression), as well as coordination of care for complex disorders and special needs children. She offers newborn home visits and has a dedicated suite for advanced acne treatments.

Dr Bouallali has over a decade of experience in her field. She completed her residency at the Albert Einstein Medical School Bronx Lebanon Hospital Program in NY and practiced as a Neonatal Unit Hospitalist for several years prior to joining a primary care clinic in the busy and diverse community of the South Bronx, NY.

Dr Bouallali is certified by the American Board of Pediatrics and a Fellow of the Academy of Pediatrics. Certification by the ABP has one objective -- to promote excellence in medical care for children and adolescents. Certification represents a dedication to the highest level of professionalism in patient care. ABP certification provides a standard of excellence by which the public can select paediatricians and pediatric subspecialists. The mission of the American Academy of Pediatrics is to attain optimal physical, mental, and social health and well-being for all infants, children, adolescents and young adults.

Additionally, she holds certification in Advanced Acne Procedures by the Empire Medical Training Inc.

Dr Bouallali is fluent in and can cater to patients in French, Spanish and Arabic.

When not working, she enjoys travelling, reading, and spending time with her husband and their two children.
