

Keep your mobile, keys and card close and safe at the gym with the H2O Capsule.

H2O Capsule is a revolutionary 64oz gym water bottle that comes with a patent pending neoprene insulation Sleeve that can store your card, keys, and phone.

Toronto, Jun 18, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - No more hitting the gym floor without your favourite music in your ears. No more running the treadmill with the constant fear of phone being stolen from a gym locker. A Toronto-based dynamic company, H2O, has recently launched a breakthrough fitness water bottle on Kickstarter that comes with a patent-pending sleeve to hold a card, keys, and phone. Titled "H2O Capsule", the innovative bottle will let you carry your personal belongings with you straight to the gym floor.

The campaign is geared to raise around $6,020 by July 11, 2019.

H2O Capsule is an FDA-approved, BPA-free, and BPS-free. This 64oz reusable gym water bottle features a handle manufactured from top-notch Eastman Tritan, and its 4mm-thick patent-pending sleeve is made from neoprene. Eastman Tritan is thermal resistant and can withstand up to 250°F heat, which is around 3x higher than the standard heat resistance capacity found with regular gym water bottles. It's comparatively wider mouth (2.2) lets you drop ice cubes into it, and the bottle can also keep drinks colder for hours.

"We know gym goers are often apprehensive of leaving their card, keys, and phone inside the gym locker while hitting the gym floor. They can't listen to their favourite playlist, and we all know how much we love to enjoy our favourite tracks while hitting the treadmill. Moreover, when you leave your personal belongings in your gym locker, there is always the fear of things getting misplaced or stolen. But you can bid farewell to such worries now as our revolutionary H2O Capsule is here to your rescue”, stated Michael Chiu, the founder of H2O.

“Our Capsule is impact-resistant, lightweight and carries a patent pending neoprene insulation Sleeve that can store all your valuables safely without getting them cold. From phone to cards to jewellery, you can tuck everything inside the sleeve compartment. There is also a keychain to hold your keys. No longer would you have to leave your belongings in a locker. With H2O Capsule, you will now be able to carry everything with your water bottle and have them before your eyes always on the gym floor.”
