Dr. Singh is board-certified in internal medicine, cardiovascular disease, and interventional cardiology by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

Dr. Singh is a member of the American College of Cardiology, the American Society of Nuclear Cardiology, and the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Singh is a Fellow of the American College of Cardiology (FACC), a Fellow of the American College of Physicians (FACP), as well as a Fellow of the Society for Cardiovascular Angiography & Interventions (FSCAI). Fellowship is one of the most distinguished designations the College offers its members. It is the ultimate recognition of professional achievement.

Dr. Singh was awarded the Community Hero Award by the California Resources Corporation (CRC) in 2019, the Humanitarian Award by the Patricia Jean Foundation in 2018, as well as the Interventional Cardiologist of the Year Award by the African American Association of Kern County in 2018. He was also awarded the Young Investigator Award by the American Association of Cardiologists of Indian Origin (AACIO).

Dr. Singh has served as a Principal Investigator or Sub-Investigator in several drug and device studies. He has also conducted numerous research publications.

Cardiology is a branch of internal medicine. Interventional cardiology, on the other hand, is a branch of cardiology that deals specifically with the catheter based treatment of structural heart diseases. An interventional cardiologist, like Dr. Singh, specializes in diagnosing and treating cardiovascular diseases, as well as congenital (present at birth) and structural heart conditions through catheter-based procedures, such as angioplasty and stenting. His areas of expertise include the medical and non-surgical management of disorders of the heart and blood vessels.
