

Bastard Burgers Opens New Restaurant

The hamburger chain has moved into Brunkebergstorg.

Stockholm, Jul 31, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Bastard Burgers opened his first restaurant in Luleå three years ago and is now located in large parts of the country. Thanks to their wide range, they have become popular with both carnivores and vegans. The new restaurant is the 22nd in the order and is part of the Gallerian quarter.

The location in the Galleria is a dream location for us that we have long been looking at. We see the mall as a central and development-oriented mall where there are a lot of people in motion. The Urban Escape project and the location on Brunkebergstorg were another reason why the location felt so obvious. There are a lot of working people in the neighbourhood, and we hope to become an obvious destination for hungry lunches and dinner guests as well as AW-suckers, says Kim Markström, Marketing Manager at Bastard Burgers.

Just in time for the summer heat, the restaurant in the Galleria is now open with outdoor dining in the square.

About Bastard Burgers

It's all about good meat, good bread, great burgers! Our basic idea is simple, to serve the tastiest streetfood burger you've eaten!

For us, it's not just a burger, for us, it's more than that. We believe that it is a craft that really requires knowledge and a great interest in the whole hamburger culture. After countless visits to burger places around the world, meat tasting, grinding of bread recipes, dressings and pickles, we now feel that we can proudly serve really awesome burgers.
