Get to know Licensed Practical Nurse Christine Ann Tolman, who serves patients in Mount Vernon, Washington.

New York City, Jul 30, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Christine is a licensed practical nurse (LPN) who has been in practice for over 45 years. She is currently serving patients at Mountain Glen Retirement Center in Mount Vernon, Washington. Mount Glen is an assisted living, independent living, and senior living community supporting residents and their families with expert care services. The retirement living community provides a wellness-focused lifestyle that is dedicated to positive aging and well-being for the mind, body, and soul. Residents are free to enjoy their independence without the maintenance and worries associated with homeownership.

Christine attributes her success to caring very deeply for her residents.

Christine specializes in several areas in her field, including geriatrics, acute care, home health care, long-term care, hospice care, dialysis, and correctional nursing.

Christine received her nursing degree from Seattle Central College in Seattle, Washington in 1974.

An LPN is a nurse who cares for people who are sick, injured, convalescent or disabled. In the United States, LPNs work under the direction of physicians. A person can generally become an LPN with one to two years of training in the United States; all U.S state and territorial boards also require passage of the NCLEX-PN exam.
