

CoachVille announces relationship with Patina Nation.

Hopatcong, Jul 2, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - CoachVille, an organization dedicated to mastering the craft of professional coaching, is pleased to announce a new partnership with Patina Nation, a leading online community for independent consultants operated by Patina Solutions. Together – Patina and CoachVille will offer experienced and new coaches growth opportunities, resources, and certified coach training programs accredited by the International Coach Federation (ICF).

“CoachVille supports and inspires coaches all over the world in every form of human endeavour. We are excited to bring our proven solutions and programs to the growing and impressive membership of the Patina Nation,” says Dave Buck, CEO of CoachVille and a Master Certified Coach. “Together with Patina - we’ll continue advancing the coaching profession by connecting with and inspiring members of Patina Nation through training, personal growth, and community engagement.”

Coaching is a $12 billion industry, and it is growing in its reach and impact. “If coaches want to expand their reach – it is important to build powerful network relationships. Patina Nation is a great resource to do such and offers many benefits for developing and established coaching practices, including opportunities for coaching partnership, and we are always looking for new revenue possibilities for our alumni and membership” added Deanna Stull, CXO of CoachVille and a Professional Certified Coach.

“We are pleased to add CoachVille to the growing family of Patina Nation Partners. Our members will have special access to CoachVille’s coaching school, programs, and resources,” said Mike Harris, CEO of Patina Solutions. “Coaching is a great way for executives to share their wisdom and help to develop the next generation of leaders. Coachville makes both new and proven coaches more effective and successful – and preps them to become ICF certified if desired,” added Harris.
