

Oli London announced as ambassador for View Plastic Surgery & Medictel Korea

BTS Mega Fan & Plastic Surgery enthusiast is the new face of two major Korean brands

Los Angeles, Jul 15, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Oli London, the British BTS Jimin and K-pop fan who made headlines last year for his plastic surgery transformation to look like a K-pop star, has just been announced as an ambassador for the prestigious View Plastic Surgery in Korea and medical tourism agency, Medictel Korea.

Last year, the K-pop fan made world headlines for his Barcroft TV show "Hooked on the Look" where he admitted to spending $100,000 to look like a K-pop idol. In particular, he shared with the world his love of BTS member Jimin and his desire to emulate Jimin in every way possible.

Back in February this year, he even released his own K-pop song 'Perfection' dedicated to Jimin which peaked at number 31 in the K-pop iTunes charts.

The aspiring K-pop star is currently in Korea and recently appeared on several Korean shows including Arirang TV 'When in Korea' and Arirang Radio 'K-Poppin'. The BTS Jimin mega-fan is due to appear on several more upcoming shows talking about his love of BTS, K-Pop and his role as an ambassador for View Plastic Surgery and Medictel.

This month, Oli was announced as an ambassador and model for world-famous plastic surgery clinic,

View Plastic Surgery. View Clinic, a winner of numerous awards in various fields of plastic surgery, located in the affluent Gangnam area of Seoul has an excellent 15-years long experience and is considered one of the best plastic surgery clinics, which provides a qualified one-stop system for international clients. He will be representing the clinic as a model and will appear in promotional campaigns for the clinic.

He has also been announced as an ambassador for Medictel Korea, the leader in Korean medical tourism. The company helps clients find the right doctor for them in Korea and assists with all aspects of their medical journey.

He is due to speak more about his role as an ambassador for View and Medictel on several upcoming TV shows and interviews.
