Two muskrat brothers become displaced due to a storm and end up in a lady's backyard. They make a big mess back there, and the lady decides it's time for them to go. She calls a pest control company who comes and sets traps to catch them. He catches one of the muskrats and relocates him in a forest near a pond. He and his brother had never been apart before, and now he was all alone in an unfamiliar place. Some other animals approached him while he was drinking from the pond. They had never seen a muskrat before and were not as welcoming as he would have liked—until the muskrat proved himself worthy of living thereby helping the animals defeat a dangerous foe. The other animals realized that he had some unique qualities and skills and did, in fact, belong at the pond, and they became friends. And someone special may have rejoined the muskrat to make for a happy ending.
