

Will Royá's PlayingCardDecks.com Continues To Dominate The Playing Cards Market

A huge fan favorite is their exclusive Pip Box Club Subscription Playing Card Subscription Box

Henderson, Jul 2, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - The eCommerce space has always been mega-competitive. To be successful, it takes just the right combination of ingredients. Will Royá was able to structure his niche online business - PlayingCardsDecks.com, in such a way as to grow and become the leader of the playing cards industry. Playing Cards were not new to Will, as he was an accomplished Magician and Performer. He feels right at home along with other players, collectors, magicians and cardists.

PlayingCardsDecks.com was launched in 2017 and has achieved miraculous results. It is a success story and very inspirational. With the benefit of several years of experience in the magic industry, he began getting more into product sales and eventually gave up performing in order to devote himself exclusively to sales. So, what is this Magic that Will tapped into that propelled his new venture to the pinnacle of eCommerce success?

Just the right combination of attributes:

- Exceptional Customer Service: This has been the cornerstone of com's 5-Star reputation and growing customer base.
- Niche and Product Selection: Will is well aware of the importance of bringing in fresh new products. Not only does he bring in new decks every week, but he's also successfully launched over a dozen Kickstarter custom playing card decks, with each launch successively building the reputation and following of his brand. On their site are over 1,000 different decks and related items.
- Marketing Consistency: com consistently posts on Facebook and Instagram. Will has successfully established himself as an expert and added value in various industry forums which send quite a bit of business his way. Every week since the beginning, Will has been sending out the Tuesday newsletter with current promotions, new decks, blog post, and any other newsworthy items.

The Playing Card Subscription Box Service has become one of their most popular offerings. The Pip Box Club is a passion project from Will Royce & PlayingCardDecks.com that was in development for several months before launching in May 2018. They wanted to bring fans an exciting selection of decks & extras on a monthly basis. Boxes ship by the 10th of each month and include prototypes, new releases and other specials.

A client testimonial tells the story. Take a look at what Jeffrey J. Kelly, a Verified Customer, had to say about his order, "The Pip Box subscription service is an incredible value. The decks are usually new or rather rare so there is less chance of duplication. Each month the value of the decks has far exceeded the $30 fee which includes shipping. With the rising costs of custom decks and shipping, the Pip Box has become my main source of collecting these days. Will Royce also includes almost 20 single cards which are fun to collect on their own and often throws in swag like beverage cozies and bottle openers. I intend to continue subscribing and would highly recommend it to any card collector."

PlayingCardDecks.com is always publishing fresh content on their blog that is valuable and interesting for people who are both new to playing cards and deep into the industry. They also boast one of the largest collections of informative and entertaining articles.
