

Dr. Haider Ali Khan MD : A Man of Many Achievements

New Port Richey, Aug 14, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Dr Haider Khan, the current President of S N S Medical Consulting in Florida, is an interesting personality. He's a successful physician.

However, he's more than a physician. He also focuses on freeing poor people from hunger. And also, for providing education and healthcare for all.

Dr Haider Ali Khan MD sat down in an interview with Sara Revonia for Voux Magazine.

Dr Haider Ali Khan is a physician by profession. Born and raised in Darbhanga, India, he finished his bachelor's degree at Millat College. Afterward, he undertook his Graduate Training in Rajendra Medical College, Darbhanga Medical College in India. He then trained in General Surgery at Darbhanga Medical College.

In 1977 Dr Haider Khan MD moved to New York. He then enrolled in the Family Practice Residency Program at Southside Hospital in the State of New York.

Dr Khan shared his experience as a physician.

He started as a House Physician in Good Samaritan Hospital in 1978. A year later, he continued as a House Physician at Mather Memorial Hospital. Both are in the State of New York on Long Island. He was a Family Physician there until 1984.

Dr Khan led and worked in fields other than medicine. He worked in different academic and administrative roles in his entire career.

He served as the Assistant Professor of Clinical Medicine at SUNY in Stony Brook in the Department of Family Medicine. He also served as Assistant Medical Director of the Residency Program at Southside Hospital. These are both in the State of New York on Long Island.

He also served as the Regional Health Officer in Lipscomb County. He also was the Medical Director of Twin Oaks Nursing Home in Booker, Texas.

Dr Haider Ali Khan MD also served on the Physician Advisory Board of Humana in the Tampa Bay Area as a member. He also had his private practices in several places — specifically, Long Island in New York, and New Port Richey in Florida.

The administrative role has bolstered Dr Khan's influence.

He also realized that he could help more people, so Dr. Khan made it his goal to help. Since 1997, knowing his advocacy, Dr Khan was appointed as President of various health organizations.

He was the President of Quality Health Plans both in Florida and in New York. He also served as the President of Delta Medical Care in Florida.

Currently, he serves as the President of S N S Medical Consulting in Florida.

Dr Khan established the BKH Humanitarian Foundation in 2011. They provide health services, education, and food, making them more accessible and affordable for the poor.

The organization helps and supports similar organizations, such as CHS Centers in Florida and India.

They feed the hungry and help the needy. The primary goal is to feed the starving people. In addition, they also the poor in accessing affordable healthcare and education.

The organization was started with the support of Dr Khan's partners and mentor to help attain the primary rights of all people. They will provide regardless of sex, religion, or race.

Dr Khan developed several systems to help patients to make things more convenient. "See, being a caring physician means wanting to ease the difficulties faced by people, especially your patients.", said Dr Khan.

He wants to lessen the burden of the sick. However, he also wants attending physicians to have a convenient time as well. Dr Khan shared that he wanted to reduce the stress that different treatments give the patient.

His primary goal was to help the patients, and the systems that he developed is a way of reducing the burdens placed on the patients.

"I developed the Telemedicine model to make the medical examination of patients more convenient for them, by providing this service in the patient's home.", Dr Khan said.

The model makes use of an interactive video call. The medical assistant present in the patient's home adequately supports the primary physician or nurse practitioner.

The medical electronic equipment present allows the primary physician to hear internal sounds in real-time.

Dr Khan also developed the Medication Management Program. It aims to remove the burden of the patients' medication. "Being ill is difficult enough, so treatment shouldn't be an additional stress.", Dr Khan is quoted saying.

The Medication Management Program works by sending an automated text to the patients at the prescribed times. It's a reminder to take their medication. This way, patients get the full benefits from their medication through the timely intake. Also, at the same time, they get to focus on things other than their illness.

But, if in case the patient does not reply to the reminder, the Medication Management Program alerts the assigned caregiver. The designated caregiver then checks the patient.

The program also generates a monthly report for the prescribing physician to track the medication compliance of their patient.

The medication is placed in an easy to use pill pack and mailed to the patient by the participating pharmacy. This method is done for the patients' convenience, so they won't have to go to the pharmacy and organize their medication themselves.

Dr Haider Ali Khan MD shared that he has developed two other programs.

Both are on electronic systems and are intended to increase the accuracy of information. These are the E-Prescription program and the Electronic Health Record program.

These programs allow the sharing of the patients' information electronically. They also avoid time delays and decrease errors. Moreover, they minimize inconvenience. And, it also secures the patient against the fraudulent use of personal information.

Dr Khan was delighted to share his accomplishments with everyone. He concluded by strongly advising everyone to work for the betterment of society.

Dr Khan said, "My advice to all juniors, colleagues, readers, and all concerned people would be to work for the betterment of society. Regardless of what profession you belong to."

According to Dr Khan, every skill will be useful to make life easier. It will also be more bearable for others. Not just for one's self. Dr Khan urges other healthcare professionals to support the Quality of Care.

He stresses being cost-efficient and reducing wastes. Dr Khan also suggests stopping greed in medical practices.

Dr Haider Ali Khan MD's success is the culmination of hard work and compassion. Not just for his patients as a physician, but also the poor and the needy.
