Las Vegas, Aug 5, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Beverly Hills Collection Paris designer Franck Rouas has announced the company will soon release two new fragrances. The first one, you may have already heard about called Forever Marilyn Perfume is a tribute to the legacy of Marilyn Monroe. The second is called Aficionado Perfume, JRP Brands is currently negotiating with Paul Padda to be the star of the commercial and the spoke model for the project.

This local Las Vegas company is behind some of the finest fragrances. Franck ROUAS, founded Julian Rouas Paris {JRP} in 2004 and debuted L.A. City, Beverly Hills Gold, Versailles perfume & cologne.

Versailles has a subtly sweet vanilla base note, we take pride in utilizing the purest essential oils, with each ingredient carefully selected by hand. The production of the scent is supervised by a member of the JRP team to maximize quality control. Versailles sold more than 300,000 bottles in just its first year.

In October of 2012, Mr Rouas rented a booth at the Fantastik Indoor Swap Meet located in Las Vegas, NV. According to a French news article fractured in The Nice-Matin, two children approached Rouas asking for a pen so they could get an autograph from Janet Jackson. Rouas noticed a commotion filling the room when he saw Janet Jackson with her late father Joseph W. Jackson. Without hesitation, Rouas gave instructions to deliver the scent & subsequently gave each child a bottle of Versailles and of course... a pen!

Later in the evening one of the bodyguards for the Jackson Family approached the booth stating "The Jacksons would like to speak with you immediately". Rouas followed the man through a hallway to a backroom, spoke with the family and released The Jackson Family Tribute Collection by December 2012.

The JRP team works every day to maintain quality, and excellence at the lowest cost to the environment! With locations in Las Vegas, France, and Italy... Julian Rouas Paris Brands is here to stay!
