Surrey, Sep 4, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Alternative Airlines, a global flight-search website, has released data from a travel 'pet peeves' survey, which has highlighted some of the most annoying things travellers experience when flying - and it's safe to say that other people top the list!

Stand out figures included:

Noisy children:

- Women hate noisy children on flights more than men do!

(43% of women surveyed rated noisy children as 8/10-10/10 annoyance, vs 40% of men)

- People in the UK are more bothered by noisy children on the plane

(43% of UK respondents rated noisy children as 8/10-10/10 annoyance, vs 34% of those outside of the UK)

Over eager plane leavers:

- Men are more irritated than women by passengers immediately standing up after a plane lands

(41% of men surveyed rated this as 8/10-10/10 annoyance, vs 34% of women)

- Those outside of the UK are much less bothered than those in the UK about passengers immediately standing up after a plane lands

(30% of UK respondents, vs 20% outside of the UK)

Save the applause:

- People from the UK are more likely to be annoyed by passengers applauding after the flight

(20% in the UK rated this as 8/10-10/10 annoyance, vs 12% outside of the UK thinking the same)

- Men are more likely to be less bothered than women when passengers applaud after the flight

(42% of men rated this as 1/10 irritating, vs 28% of women)
