HUMOR AND WITTICISMS

101 PLUS

Alex Gall

Pittsburg, Sep 5, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Author Alexander Gall announces the participation of his entertaining book Humor and Witticisms 101 Plus in the Manila International Book Fair.

The book is a fascinating hodgepodge of the author's clever quips and relatable comedy. According to Gall, this book is not a novel since there is no plot whatsoever. However, it remains riveting and a sure page-turner.

Gall has been many things throughout his life. He was a shoeshine and newspaper boy, cub and Boy Scout, mechanical engineer, Army soldier, and test director of Army non-ordnance equipment at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland. He was also section chief of test technicians and engineers for 28 years as well as an Army management staff in college with more than 3,200 class hours on many topics. He is currently retired.

Alexander's work will be exhibited at the Manila International Book Fair to be held at the SMX Convention Center Manila, Mall of Asia in Pasay City, Philippines this coming Sept. 11-15, 2019 from 10am-8pm at the Authors Press booth no. 2-35. 2000s

This book is not a novel, there is no plot. Unless you munch on a page the best way to enjoy the flavor of this book is with a few examples of the book's contents.

Mom, this cow followed me home, may I keep her?
One good intern deserves another.
John took a shot with his pistol and he killed his shadow.
My doctor gave me a shot in the arm, but he was aiming lower.
I had four visitors, one of each sex. By the way, did I tell you I flunked anatomy?
I gave my wife an inch; she converted it to centimeters.
Push came to shove when my car broke down.
When in Rome do as the Romans do. When in New York City, forget about it.
