

RLDatix merged with Cloud9's parent company iContracts

London, Sep 18, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Cloud9 Software, makers of the award-winning contract management software intelligentcontract, announced today that they have joined the RLDatix family of companies. RLDatix merged with Cloud9's parent company, iContracts, in May. As such, Cloud9 will add contract life cycle management to the RLDatix healthcare suite and expand their global reach into governance, risk management, and compliance (GRC).

"intelligentcontract richly adds to the RLDatix portfolio of products," said Kevin Walters, General Manager of New Markets at iContracts. "As perhaps the most versatile contract management product in the market, it will allow us to serve a broader set of customer challenges while helping to realize the RLDatix mission of becoming the premier global solutions provider in healthcare."

"We are excited to become part of an enterprise with such a global presence," said Paul Darlow, Product Manager for intelligentcontract. "We have a strong presence in the healthcare market. Our flexible architecture and ease of use make our software a perfect solution for overwhelmed healthcare professionals who have limited time to spend learning new software. We are an ideal addition to RLDatix's suite of GRC tools."

RLDatix seeks to be a disruptor in GRC by focusing on tools that drive efficiency and safety across the healthcare spectrum. Cloud9's intelligentcontract adds a contract management solution that focuses on delivering a strong ROI while also providing flexibility and great user experience.

"We don't want to go to where the healthcare industry already is, we want to be where it is going," said Walters. "RLDatix is uniquely positioned to drive value, innovation, and insight across all sectors of healthcare."

"Healthcare companies increasingly need a single source of truth," added Darlow. "Having a single secure place that everyone can access increases participation and ultimately removes duplication and eliminates the loss of information."

Darlow noted that the environment for healthcare companies continues to grow more complex. Organizations will need contract management software that they can easily customize, that automates data collection, that provides compliance tracking, and task and milestone alerts, as well as vendor management and document-level security.

"These organizations will want intelligentcontract," he concluded.

About Cloud9 Software and intelligentcontract

Since 2009 Cloud9's intelligentcontract has set the standard for easy-to-use yet functionally rich contract management software. The goal is simple – to deliver better solutions for managing contracts that are faster, easier and less expensive to implement. Enterprise-class. Quickly and easily integrated. Meeting exacting business requirements without the army of consultants and endless fees associated with other products and providers. For more information, please visit intelligentcontract website.

About RLDatix

RLDatix is a driving force for innovation in patient safety. Bringing together the best of RL Solutions and Datix, the company leverages more than three decades of global expertise dedicated to making healthcare safer. RLDatix is the world's largest software company focused exclusively on patient safety, with more than 3,000 customers in 19 countries around the globe. For more information, visit RLDatix website.

Media Contact

intelligentcontract

support@intelligentcontract.com

+1(856)4524250

Suite 9, 1 Derby Square, Liverpool, L2 9QR, United Kingdom

Source : intelligentcontract

See on IssueWire : <https://www.issuewire.com/rldatix-merged-with-cloud9s-parent-company-iccontracts-1645012006976309>