

Saints News Network to join Sports Illustrated/Maven, Inc.

Saints News Network will bring New Orleans Saints featured articles, news, and updates on the team for SI.com

The image shows the Sports Illustrated logo in white text on a dark blue background. The word "Sports" is in a large, bold, sans-serif font, and "Illustrated" is in a similar font but slightly smaller and positioned below "Sports".

New Orleans, Oct 10, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Saints News Network, a sports website featuring original articles, news, and updates on the National Football League's New Orleans Saints, is joining the coalition of sports websites, reporters and writers on Sports Illustrated/SI.com and Maven (MVEN), the new digital media platform.

Saints News Network launched in April 2006 under the founder, Kyle T. Mosley, with New Orleans Saints fan blogs, DeuceandReggie.com and SaintsNews.net. In 2009, Mosley created the Saints News Radio Network which featured several podcasts including, Saints News Radio, D'Professor Speaks with Derek Stephens, From the Coach's Office with Rick Gaille, NFL Huddle, Crescent City Connection, Saints Angels, Big Easy Blitz, The Butler's Pantry with Brendan Boylan, The Buckles Report, and hosted Big Easy Blitz with Barry Hirtius and John Hendrix, and Who Dat Confessional with Deuce Windham and Bryan Bienemy.

The Saints News Network's past guest consists of former New Orleans Saints players Deuce McAllister, NFL Hall of Famer Willie Roaf, Joe Horn, Jim Everett, Quinn Early, Kevin Mitchell, JoLonn Dunbar, Malcolm Jenkins, Tracy Porter, and NFL Coach Steve Jackson, Shaine Boyle, Patrick Peterson, and NFL Analysts Mike Detillier and Emory Hunt.

The Saint News Network Krewe will feature articles, videos, and podcasts by Kyle T. Mosley, Barry Hirstius, Bob Rose, Brendan Boylan, Kevin Buckles, Remy "The Professional" Jones, Charita "Diva" Batiste, Carla Antoine, Melissa Smith, Ken "Snatcha" Times, Frank Jones, and Shaine

Boyle.

"I'm excited and proud to be working with a great team of professionals and passionate fans of the New Orleans Saints like the ones at Saints News Network. Our partnership with Sports Illustrated/Maven will allow us to continue to provide outstanding content for our fans, readers, and audience while giving us access to collaborate with other Maven websites and writers," said Mosley. "Maven provides a dynamic platform and cutting-edge technology for the network as we cover our beloved Saints today and years to come."

Maven is an expert-driven, group media network, whose innovative platform serves, by-invitation-only, a coalition of professional, independent channel partners. By providing broader distribution, greater community engagement and efficient advertising and membership programs, Maven enables partners to focus on the key drivers of their business: creating, informing, sharing, discovering, leading and interacting with the communities and constituencies they serve.

Based in Seattle, Maven is publicly traded under the ticker symbol MVEN. The executive team and operational board members include digital media pioneers James Heckman, Ross Levinsohn and Josh Jacobs with technology innovators Bill Sornsin and Ben Joldersma. Mark Pattison, Derek Liddell, and Scott Kennedy were instrumental for the Saints News Network joining Maven's platform.

For more information, visit themaven.net.

Contacts

Maven

Gretchen Bakamis, 206-715-6660

Media Contact

Saints News Network

kmosley@saintsnews.net

504-313-1314

Source : Saints News Network

See on IssueWire : <https://www.issuewire.com/saints-news-network-to-join-sports-illustratedmaven-inc-1647004660015513>