GIA Smash Repairs, a professional vehicle repairer based in Five Dock, Sydney, render its expertise to damaged bumpers. When you got involved in a minor fender bender, don't lose hope on your bumper. We don't have to replace it and instead bring it to GIA Smash Repairs.

Bumpers are designed to protect your car's structure because they are the first line of defense and absorbs the impact in a collision. GIA Smash Repairs has certified technicians who are trained to do plastic bumper repairs Sydney and return it to its pre-accident condition.

"At GIA Smash Repairs, we meticulously do the right repair for damaged bumpers. We recondition it so that we erase any signs of scratches, scrapes, dents, and indentations. You know, many bumper parts can be repaired, particularly the bumper covers, which are commonly damaged during a collision. Aside from saving your bumper, we also take care of aesthetics. Our technician can blend the new paint accurately and efficiently, making your bumper look good as new," stated the representative from GIA Smash Repairs during our interview.

This bumper repairer can handle different kinds of plastic bumpers. Whether it is a rigid plastic or semi-rigid plastic, their technicians can repair them with precision. They can also handle bumpers that are thermoplastic or thermoset.

The difference between thermoset and thermoplastics depends on how they are made. Out of the two thermoplastic bumpers are more flexible, easy to reuse and recycle, and more cost-effective. This is why more plastic bumper covers are made from them. Bumpers that are thermoset plastics, on the other hand, is made with two different sets of polymers that are permanently cross-linked. This makes the bumper more durable but a little harder to repair.

No matter what type of bumper do you have, bring it to GIA Smash Repairs, and they will repair it to look brand new. Their technicians use the latest tools and back their work with a lifetime guarantee.

If you are interested in bumper repair services, you can make an appointment with GIA Smash Repair and discuss the course of action.
