

Creative and Lyrical Freedom Brims through the Verses of Hip Hop in Artist Reno Geno's New Track 'Everything'

The pathway of creative expressions in upcoming hip-hop and rap artist Reno Geno's new song 'Everything' is a lyrical and rhythmic assortment of the best components.

Albany, Dec 31, 1969 (Issuewire.com) - The curve of hip-hop is constricted to any standardized rules of composition where artists can express their wisdom and insights through the lyrical excellence of their skills. Upcoming hip-hop and rap artist Reno Geno is currently making waves across the scene with his ethereal take on musical senses, arrangements, lyrical deconstruction, and the very essence of creative stance in hip-hop. His newly released song 'Everything' is a reflection of himself that ventures into the premises of his sagas, journeys, and experiences. Sometimes emotional, sometimes harsh as an indispensable element of life, 'Everything' is an assortment of his story that has carved out the person that he is today.

Hailing from South Georgia, Reno Geno is currently signed to label Muscle Music LLC that has given him the exposure to hone his music-making and performing skills with more attention and gradual learning. Now 32, his past goes back to the bleak days he spent in prison which again was an important section of his journey acting as a saving grace to his slowly depleting life because of personal crunches. However, he found redemption in music, hip-hop to be precise and his life turned around to lead him to the path of creative salvation.

Reno Geno's career is just starting with another hit to his name, 'Do God Really Love US'. As he expands his soundscape and gradually emerges as a promising artist making a mark in the regional hip-hop circuit, his creative accomplishments are sure to reach every corner of the world.
