Get to know Gastroenterologist Dr. Franklin M. Klion, who serves patients in New York, New York.

New York City, Nov 27, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Klion is a board-certified gastroenterologist whose clinical focus is on liver diseases. He holds an academic appointment as a Clinical Professor at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York, New York. Founded in 1852, Mount Sinai Hospital is one of the nation's oldest, largest, and most respected teaching hospitals, acclaimed internationally for excellence in clinical care.

Back in 1958, he earned his medical degree from the New York Medical College in Valhalla, New York. He then went on to complete his residency in internal medicine at Mount Sinai Hospital and at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. This was followed by a fellowship in gastroenterology at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Among the doctor's achievements, he is board-certified in both internal medicine and gastroenterology by the American Board of Internal Medicine, a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

What's more, he is a Fellow of the American College of Physicians (FACP). FACPs are a distinguished group of doctors dedicated to continuing education in medical practice, teaching, or research. Fellowship is an honorary designation given to recognize ongoing individual service and contributions to the practice of medicine.

Gastroenterology is the branch of medicine focused on the digestive system and its disorders. A gastroenterologist is a physician who has extensive training in the diagnosis and treatment of disorders related to the esophagus, stomach, small intestines, colon, liver, pancreas, and biliary system.
