Get to know Reproductive Endocrinologist Dr. Janelle Y. Luk, who serves patients in New York City, New York.

New York City, Nov 21, 2019 (IssueWire.com) - Dr. Luk, one of the top board-certified reproductive endocrinologists in New York City, is breaking barriers in the world of IVF as the Co-Founder & Medical Director at Generation Next Fertility.

Generation Next Fertility is a state-of-the-art boutique medical fertility practice for women, focused on compassionate, unique, and highly individualized care. Starting with the first patient interaction, an exemplary team delivers superb service highlighted by extraordinary access to the practice's sensitive, caring, and well-trained physicians. Medical care is complemented by integrative fertility treatments such as natural cycle and mild stimulation IVF protocols, as well as acupuncture.

"The reason that I founded this center is not only because I love what I do, but also that I wanted a place that can empower women of their bodies and make aware them of her choices and the different styles of stimulation depending on who you are. My patients and I are a team and together, we will create an individualized protocol that will strive to provide the best outcome and maximize your chances of getting pregnant" as stated by Dr. Luk.

With specialization in creating individualized fertility treatments based on each patient's needs, the doctor's areas of expertise include a diminished ovarian reserve, infertility of unknown etiology, polycystic ovarian syndrome (PCOS), and recurrent pregnancy loss. She brings her experience at two prestigious NYC fertility practices, including a previous role as Medical Director. This puts her in a unique position to cater to women of all ages and offer them the best available treatments.

After earning her Bachelor of Science (BS) degree in Biology in 2001, Dr. Luk went on to obtain her medical degree from the Yale School of Medicine in New Haven, Connecticut in 2005. Thereafter, she completed her residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Massachusetts General Hospital and Brigham Women's Hospital, followed by her fellowship in reproductive medicine and infertility at Yale University School of Medicine.

Active in research within the reproductive endocrinology field, she has published numerous reviews and research articles over her years of practice. She has also presented her research both nationally and internationally in China and Hong Kong.

In addition to being a Fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG) and a member of the American Society for Reproductive Medicine, she is dual board-certified in reproductive endocrinology and infertility & obstetrics and gynecology through the American Board of Obstetrics & Gynecology (ABOG). The ABOG is a non-profit organization that provides board certification for practicing obstetricians and gynecologists in the United States and Canada.

Reproductive endocrinology and infertility (REI) is a surgical subspecialty of obstetrics and gynecology that trains physicians in reproductive medicine addressing hormonal functioning as it pertains to reproduction as well as the issue of infertility. Reproductive endocrinologists, or REs, are fertility/infertility specialists. They are the only doctors trained in providing fertility treatments using assisted reproductive technologies (ART) such as in-vitro fertilization (IVF) and egg freezing.

In addition to English, Dr. Luk speaks Cantonese and Mandarin.
