Meet Vaibhav, The Youngest Associate Director (Technical Projects) at Added.tech (Madman Technologies)

New Delhi, Nov 17, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - It's the vision and mission of all organizations to be recognized for their work and achievements. Added.tech, the company which delivers IoT tools, services, products have many such recognition and achievements.

One among them is the young and dynamic team that it has built for itself over the years.

Meet Vaibhav, the youngest Associate Director (Technical Projects) in Team Added.tech(at age 22). This young and energetic technical engineer has found a responsible position at the company which has the expertise and experience of handling all technology and technology management related issues today.

Vaibhav handles all technical projects at the company which is flooded with assignments and projects in IoT, Telephony, IoE, Video Conferencing and many more. The Youngest Associate Director (Technical Projects) has to share that, "I am so excited to handle the crucial technical projects at Added.tech I am ready to face all challenges my way and tackle them with my experience, expertise and qualification."

Added.tech gives him the opportunity to voice his ideas and suggestions in handling technical projects. The company builds great relationships with its clients by listening to and analyzing the demands of the clients. They believe that each client has a different need and should be thus handled in an individual capacity rather than a crowd together.

Just as the CSO of Added.tech, Manish Gupta says, "We are a customer-oriented company who handle all clients with open communication and give them the tools, solutions, and services that they want. We have a passion for our work as each new project is a new challenge for us. And it is our privilege to have Vaibhav on board our team. He adds to the passion for all our projects.”

With a great, enthusiastic and dedicated team, the technology solutions company is ready to go great guns in the future too.
