Get to know Family Practitioner Dr. Charles M. Kasbarian, who serves patients in Richardson, Texas.

New York City, Dec 17, 2019 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Kasbarian is a board-certified family practitioner who has been serving patients at his private practice in Richardson, Texas since 1992. His patients have excellent things to say about him, one stating “Dr. Kasbarian has been my family doctor for over 20 years. He genuinely spends the time it takes to understand what is really going on and provides the details to any question I ask.”

Recognized for his expertise, the doctor can also be found on staff at Methodist Richardson Medical Center, which is a 25-bed, four-story general medical and surgical facility that offers enhanced health care services to residents in Richardson, Garland, Murphy, Plano, Sachse, Wylie, and surrounding areas.

Born in Dallas, all of Dr. Kasbarian’s medical training has been conducted in Texas. He earned his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Dallas in 1982, followed by his medical degree from the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston in 1986. He then went on to complete his internship at Brackenridge Hospital, followed by his residency in family medicine at UT Southwestern Affiliated Hospitals in 1990.

Thereafter, he became board-certified in family medicine by the American Board of Family Medicine, a non-profit, independent medical association of American physicians who practice in family medicine and its sub-specialties.

Family medicine, formerly family practice, is a medical specialty devoted to comprehensive health care for people of all ages. The specialist is called a family practitioner or family doctor. They are expected to treat a wide range of medical conditions, develop long-term, personal relationships with their patients, produce individualized healthcare programs based on patient historical data, and offer continuous support and health management advice.

On a more personal note, Dr. Kasbarian and his family reside in Richardson.
