SUB-HEADLINE

Use rightsignal.co.uk and claim your free share in rightsignal limited. Service built for Consumers allocates share capital to UK consumers who use the rightsignal service to become a genuine disruptor and fuel rapid growth

BODY PARAGRAPH

Property professionals, advisors, investors and developers are continually longing for decision grade information. With technology, IoT and in-home connectivity becoming hugely important for the end-consumer, the quest for an understanding of which are the truly digitally connected homes has never had more focus!

rightsignal provide mobile signal strength information and broadband connectivity options and costs to individual properties, with a single click. It's a simple process. Enter your postcode, view the information and then click through on any brand to buy a deal.

As an added bonus, from today until the end of January 2020, UK consumers who use the rightsignal service can send rightsignal a copy of their order via email and claim a free share in rightsignal limited. Share certificates will be emailed back to qualifying users within the next 90 days.

Rightsignal Founder Martyn Gould said "We've been obsessed with digital connectivity for the last 3 years and rightsignal gives consumers decision grade information at any UK postcode. As an added bonus, we urge anyone who uses rightsignal to buy a product to claim their share in our company and join us in our quest to grow the value of rightsignal for everyone over the next 12 months".

rightsignal has been developed by veteran telecoms entrepreneurs Paul Doyle and MartynGould who were also featured on BBC2's Dragons Den earlier this year. Rightsignal and their API has been created to work with any software platform and can be connected with other property systems for estate agents, property developers. The rightsignal team are also engaged in advanced conversations with the UK's largest property search portals.
